Mr. Bryan denies the report that he is investing in oil property, or hankering for oil. He is too busy running his Commoner to fool with oil.

David Nation says he is going East to chastise Carrie for the way she has been talking about him. And this after John L. Sullivan ran, hid and played sick when he heard she was coming his way.

Mr. Joe. Jefferson is said to be again in excellent health. A man who has done so much to make his fellow mortals smile and enjoy themselves as genial Joe has is entitled to perpetual good health.

When Senator Platt of New York read of the attempted murder of President McKinley he remarked that that was one of the cases where lynching would be justifiable. Perhaps if he lived in the South he might enlarge his opinion somewhat.

The mosquito is getting some vindication at last, although somewhat late in the season, New York physicians now attribute the epidemic of malarial fever in that city largely to the bites of ground fleas. The mosquito ought to feel somewhat relieved now.

Santos-Dumond, the balloon man, banks for luck on a charmed amulet that he wears. He also has a high regard for the red-haired girl. But he seems never to have caught on to the left hind foot of a grave yard rabbit. But this is probably because he was raised in benighted Brazil.

A fellow in Indiana who got into a fight with another fellow and inadvertently stuck a finger in the other fellow's mouth and had it bitten off is suing a bystander for $10,000 because he didn't jump in and prize the biter's jaws apart. Perhaps he didn't know how much that finger was worth.

A geological professor in the University of Nebraska imparts the sad information that the geysers in Yellowstone Park are playing out and will not last more than ten years longer. This is calculated to make us feel blue, for the American people were stuck on those geysers.

Mr. J. Ogden Armour, of Chicago, a multi-millionaire, who recently returned from Europe, tried to smuggle in $30,000 worth of jewels, but the sleuth hounds of the New York custom house scented them and Mr. Ogden had to shell out $13,000 duties, and a $5,000 fine. That was a fine business for a millionaire.

LUMBER ENTERPRISE.

Plant of the C. W. Pike Company Sold Monday to Pittsburg Capitalists.

WILL BE REHABILITATED.

That is the Pretty Well Authenticated Rumor—Bid in at Auction This Week. Description of the Property and its Capacity.

The lumber interests in Wilmington are perhaps second only in importance to its vast business in cotton and naval stores and any increase in the number of enterprises of this character or rehabilitation of plants, for a time unused, is always hailed with delight.

The Star has information that the plant formerly operated here by the C. W. Pike Company and one of the best equipped of its kind in the city will soon be put in operation again by capitalists from Pittsburg, Pa., who will carry on the lumber business in an extensive way.

The valuable plant formerly owned by the C. W. Pike Company was sold Monday at auction in front of the Court House by Mr. M. M. Caldwell, commissioner, and was bid in by Mr. M. D. Hays, of Pittsburg, who it is understood is acting for the party of capitalists who will put the plant in operation. The sale was pursuant to a decree of the United States Court at Abingdon, Va., in the causes of Paul Hutchinson's administrator et als. vs. the Wytheville Insurance and Banking Company et als., and Blount & Boyton vs. H. G. Wadley et als., and upon an ancillary bill in the same names in the Circuit Court of the United States for the Eastern District of North Carolina. The bid was $5,010 and the property was knocked down to Mr. Hays for that amount.

The mill is excellently equipped and is situated one mile from Wilmington on the west bank of the Northeast branch of the Cape Fear river, including 28 acres of land on which it is situated. At the saw mill location the river is 1,250 feet wide and 15 feet deep. The sawmill was constructed in the very best manner on deep foundations of brick and cement. The machinery consists of three large steam boilers, of 100-horse power each, built by the Erie City Iron Works, of Erie, Pa. A magnificent engine made by Stearns Manufacturing Co., of Erie, Pa. It has all the modern appliances for drawing up the logs out of the river, turning the logs on the carriage, edging and cut-off saws with three brick dry kilns, 18x90 feet, of standard pattern, with twelve thousand feet of steam pipe in each kiln. There is a covered wharf, 42x192 feet, with capacity for 1,000,000 feet of lumber. A railroad in the yards connects with the main lines.

Mr. Hays, the purchaser of the property, yesterday went up to Burgaw, to bid on certain timber lands sold at auction under the same decree. There are three tracts of land containing 350, 126 and 630 acres, respectively, and all said be excellently timbered and easily accessible to the Cape Fear river.

Requiem High Mass at St. Thomas Church. Yesterday Morning—The Interment.

Dennen at St. Thomas Pro-cathedral yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives.

The interment was in Oakdale cemetery where many beautiful floral tributes attested the love and esteem in which she was held. The pall bearers were as follows: Honorary: Messrs. James Madden, T. Donlan, Jno. H. Hanby and Dr. L. H. Love; active: Messrs. P. H. Hayden, John Sweeney Jno. H. Gore, Jr., Chas. D. Foard and Martin O'Brien.

Death of Mrs. Hewett.

Friends will learn with sorrow of the death of Mrs. Maggie Hewett, which occurred at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at her farm residence near Wilmington after a continued illness with hemorrhagic fever. Mrs. Hewett was in the 56th year of her age and is survived by a son, Mr. James Hewett. The funeral will be held at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon from the late residence, Rev. R. H. Herring officiating, and the interment will be in the family burying ground near.

MARRIED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Mrs. Julia A. Johnston Becomes Bride of Mr. J. L. Boney, of Wallace.

Mrs. Julia Augusta Johnson, daughter of Mrs. T. H. W. McIntyre, who resides on Grace street, was quietly married yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the family home to Mr. Jacob L. Boney, a well known and prosperous young planter and mill man of Wallace, N. C.

The ceremony was impressively performed by the Rev. R. M. Williams, of Wallace, assisted by the Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, of this city. The wedding was exceedingly quiet on account of the illness of the bride's mother, who recently suffered a painful injury by falling from the back porch of her residence. The bride and groom left on last evening's train for Wallace, their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fore will arrive in Wilmington about October 1st.

Laurence Sprunt Improving.

The Star rejoices with many friends this morning at the news last night from Asheville to the effect that the condition of Laurence Sprunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sprunt, was very encouraging. This is the thirteenth day of the boy's severe illness, and it is thought the crisis has passed and that unless unexpected complications arise, his recovery is reasonably certain. The news that the little fellow is entirely free from danger will come welcome indeed to hundreds of friends here.

THE ELKS' CARNIVAL.

Important Meeting of the Executive Committee at the Temple Last Night.

RAILROAD RATES SECURED.

Informal Programme of Events Mapped Out—Location of Some of the Booths. Hollowbush's Cornet Band Engaged—Other Business.

King Carnival will reign supreme in gaiety and pleasure in Wilmington for one solid week, October 14th-19th.

Each passing day brings more and more assurance to the enterprising Elks that their fair will be a great success and the merchants and business men, irrespective of their affiliation with the lodge, are beginning to think that way, too. The canvassing committee is keeping up its work and is meeting with fair success, although it deserves better.

Last night there was a meeting of the Executive Committee, Mr. H. J. Gerken presiding, and the reports of all sub-committees showed a substantial growth in preparation for the big event. It was reported that the Board of Aldermen had been very generous in its concessions to the fair promoters and that all the street space desired had been granted.

Another important announcement was that of definite railroad rates for the event. The Coast Line, Seaboard and Southern have granted a rate of one fare for the round trip over all their lines in North Carolina, South Carolina and contiguous sections of other States. One cent a mile travelled has been granted to military organizations and brass bands. Tickets will be on sale for a week and will be good for the return until the following Monday night, October 21st.

The amusement committee, Mr. "Jack" Bellamy chairman, has mapped out a very complete programme of each day's entertainment, but as there will likely be some changes it is not yet given out for publication. Thursday, of fair week, will be "Elks' Day," and a great one, too. Hundreds of visiting B. P. O. E.'s are expected on that day and the town will be turned over to them.

Arrangements have also been made for a trolley parade each night of the fair between 8 and 9 o'clock. Five gayly decorated and brilliantly lighted cars will make a trip around the belt on a special schedule, with the front car occupied by a band of splendid musicians.

The music committee last night closed a contract by wire with Hollowbush's Cornet Band of twenty all-professional musicians to play during the week. Of course it will be assisted by numerous bands with the Bostock-Ferari Show, which is the main attraction. The Hollowbush band has been engaged, so it is stated, to play at the Richmond Elks' fair on the week preceding the fair here.

The special committee on the country store has gone to work with a vim and will likely open its emporium of merchandise in front of the Postoffice building, extending lengthwise nearly half a square. Last night about one hundred letters were mailed to various merchants North soliciting contributions through local merchants.

The Carnival district will extend along Front from Walnut to Orange street and on Market from Water to midway between Second and Third streets. At each street intersection the Bostock-Ferari Company will have one of its mammoth entertainment booths established, which will extend up and down intersecting streets about a block. Between each of the corners merchants will be granted space for the erection of booths to display their goods. Ample space will be allowed vehicles and streets cars to pass.

On Market between Water and Front streets, the trained animal show and menagerie will be established. At the end of the Market street plaza and facing Front street will be the Chrystal Maze, and just in the rear of this, between Front and Second streets, will be the mammoth 90-foot Ferris wheel.

At Front and Princess streets, extending toward Water, it is expected to establish the German village booth. In this booth the Elks have kindly given the Daughters of the Confederacy, of this city, space for a refreshment stand and lunch room, the revenue from which will be used in defraying the expenses of the city delegates to the National Convention, Daughters of the Confederacy, which assembles in Wilmington on the following month. Ordinarily, this section of the booth is let for dispensing strong drink, but the Elks decided this would not be in line with the object of their fair and the privilege was accordingly given to the Daughters of the Confederacy.

From now on, with many of the details of arrangement out of the way, the Elks will push forward to a brilliant success.

DIED.

HEWETT—At her residence, Jumping Run, southeast of city, at 1 o'clock P. M., yesterday (September 10th, 1901), Mrs. MARGARET E. HEWETT, beloved wife of Jas H. Hewett, aged 56 years.

Friends of the family are invited to attend the funeral at 4 o'clock this afternoon at above place.

The Morning Star.

BY WILLIAM H. BERNARD

WILMINGTON, N. C.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 11.

A BUNGLING SYSTEM.

The New York banks, which at this season of the year are always drawn upon for money to help move the crops, are calling upon Secretary Gage to do something to relieve the strain upon them. There is piled up in the Treasury $180,000,000, over and above what is needed for redemption purposes. This money is locked up and temporarily useless, taken out of circulation, where it is needed, especially in the Fall, when the movement Eastward of grain and cotton begins. The receipts from customs and internal taxation are largely in excess of Government needs, and as there is nothing requiring the paying out of this money it is locked up where it can do no good, but where the locking up does much harm by retarding the movement of the crops and impeding business.

Of course some of this congestion might be prevented by reducing taxation and cutting off some more of the war taxes, but that can't be done in time to do any good this year, and if it were the trouble would not be entirely overcome, because in all prosperous years there will be a large accumulation of money in the Treasury, money which will be needed in the avenues of trade.

The trouble is in the system which draws money to the centers from which it must go out again, not by any automatic process but when business remote from the centers is embarrassed from the need of it. This is the same story repeated year after year, and every Fall finds the Treasury called upon to supply desirable denominations of notes, etc., to help move the crops, and to relieve the strain on the Eastern banks. Several weeks ago it began to send money to the sub-treasuries West and South, but the amount sent wouldn't be a hatful compared to the amount needed.

This difficulty will never be entirely overcome until we have a monetary system by which the banks of the respective sections will be enabled to furnish the volume of currency that may be needed in the transaction of the business of that section, without calling or depending upon the U. S. Treasury, which ought to get out of the banking business.

SUBSIDY GRABBERS AT ODDS.

The ship subsidy grabbers are now divided, and the probabilities are that when that scheme comes before Congress there will be two factions of them, each fighting the other. One will work for the $9,000,000 a year appropriation, the greater part of which would be gobbled by the companies owning fast ships, which are really passenger ships, carrying but little freight, and not the kind of ships which would give the country a merchant marine in the true sense. The other will ask for $6,000,000 a year to aid in the construction of vessels to carry cargoes.

If there were anything to be said in favor of subsidy schemes the latter of these would be entitled to the most respect and consideration, because the grab is smaller and it contemplates a kind of vessels that would be found serviceable in the commerce of the country. But that is all that can be said for that—it is only two-thirds as large a grab as the other proposed one.

But there is no need of that if there were no other objection to it, for ships of any kind can be built in this country as cheaply as they can be built anywhere, and if there be difference in the cost of operating American and European ships it should not be sufficient to make any material difference. If the merchants, exporters, importers, growers of grain and cotton manufacturers and others are as anxious for an American merchant marine as the subsidy advocates allege they are, they should give the preference to American ships, and that would settle the question of competition.

During the past fiscal year the people of this country used 5,116,236,000 postage stamps, an increase of 3,500,000,000 over the previous year. Of these 1,300,000,000 were 1-cent stamps, 3,500,000,000 2-cent and 309,236,000 of higher denominations. Some one with spare time has figured out that placed side by side they would girdle the earth three times, or they would form a paper side walk from New York to San Francisco, three feet wide, or pasted in books of the conventional size of the stamp-collecting crank they would fill 500,000 volumes and would make a column 25 miles high. But that will do.

The town of Shumway, Illinois, has solved the question of paving the sidewalks. It licenses but one saloon and makes that pay $700 a year for the exclusive privilege of dispensing booze beverages. The money is used for paving the sidewalks, so that when a citizen takes a drink at that bar he is helping to lay bricks on the sidewalks.

WHAT THE FIGURES SHOW.

Yesterday we made reference to a speech delivered by Mr. John B. Cleveland at Spartanburg, S. C., and quoted an editorial from the Philadelphia Press, which took that speech as a text to boom ship-subsidies. The impression conveyed by this speech and the editorial based on it, is that the South is very backward and is making but poor progress, even in cotton manufacturing' for which she presents exceptional and conceded advantages. But the reverse of this is true, especially in the line of cotton manufacturing, for no section of this country, and no section of the world, can show the same progress in this industry within the same time. The figures which tell the story of the progress made are also an answer to the wailings of the men who are lamenting the need of more markets, and to the pleadings of the subsidy advocates, who use these wailings as an argument to bolster up the subsidy grab.

Figures do not lie unless they are twisted to lie. Mr. Henry G. Hester, Secretary of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, is a recognized authority on the cotton question and his reports as to production, consumption, number of mills, &c., stand unquestioned. His last annual report, just issued, gives in tabulated form the production and the value of the commercial crop from '94-95 to 1900-91 as follows:

	Bales.	Values.
1900-1901	10,383,422	$494,567,549
1899-1900	9,436,416	363,784,820
1898-99	11,274,840	282,772,987
1897-98	11,199,994	320,552,606
1896-97	8,757,964	321,824,834
1895-96	7,157,346	294,095,347
1894 95	9,901,251	297,037,530

Figures like these make an interesting study for planters because they show the relation between production and price, and how, other things being equal, the former governs the latter. Both the crops of 97-98 and 98-99 were a couple million bales larger than the crop of 1899-1900 and yet this crop brought the planters $200,000,000 more than the preceding crop, which was some 2,000,000 bales larger. It is doubtful, though, if they will profit by them, refusing to be convinced that a crop within the world's demand consumption is more profitable than the crop which largely exceeds it.

The following table shows the increase in the number of spindles in the South from 1860 to 1901:

1860	295,359
1770	338,830
1980	561,630
1890	1,819,291
1895	3,177,310
1900	6,267,167
1901	6,531,894

From less than a quarter of a million to more than six and a half million spindles in forty years does not indicate any backwardness in this industry, especially when it is seen that the bulk of the new spindles were added in the past decade. It may be noted, also, that the increase has been steady year after year and that in the past four years so overshadows the preceding years as to leave little room for comparison, and yet the manufacturers found markets and profitable ones for their goods. They were evidently not suffering or fearing that they would suffer for want of ships with which to seek new markets.

The following table gives the number of mills in the South with the number in each State:

Alabama	61
Arkansas	6
Georgia	131
Kentucky	9
Louisiana	8
Mississippi	17
Missouri	3
North Carolina	247
South Carolina	137
Tennessee	34
Texas	17
Virginia	17
Total	688

This is a gain of twenty-five over the preceding year, while the subsidy boomers are talking about over production and the necessity of more foreign markets to keep the manufacturers from ruin, and still they are going on right along building more mills and turning out more goods just as if they never heard of an Americun merchant marine or never had an idea that they were doing a foolish thing when they were building more mills. Why, with all the mills North and South and all the new mills that have been added to them they do not yet produce enough goods to supply the home demands, for this country imports about $20,000,000 worth of cotton goods, as much or more than we export. These were probably kinds of goods that are not made to any considerable extent, if made at all, in this country, but there is no good reason why they should not be. Twenty million dollars worth of goods would give employment to a number of mills.

The following table shows the consumption by the Northern and Southern mills for the past ten years and also shows how the Southern mills have been gaining on the Northern mills until they have nearly caught up with them:

Year Ending Aug. 31.	Northern Mills. Bales.	Southern Mills. Bales.
1890	1,799,258	546,894
1991	2,027,362	604,661
1892	2,190,766	686,080
1893	1,687,286	743,848
1894	1,601,173	718,515
1895	2,083,839	862,838
1896	1,600,271	904,701
1897	1,804,680	1,042,671
1898	2,211,740	1,231,841
1899	2,190,095	1,399,399
1900	2,068,300	1,597,112
1901	1,966,897	1,620,931

While the Northern mills consumed last year only a couple hundred thousand bales more than they did ten years ago the Southern mills consumed over three times as much as they did then, and while the Northern mills consumed last year nearly 300,000 bales less than they did the year before the Southern mills consumed nearly a hundred thousand bales more than they did last year.

Percentage figures sometimes are unmeaning or deceptive and show nothing, but in this case they do show something. In 1890 the Southern mills took only 23.3 of the amount consumed by American mills, while the Northern mills took 76.7 per cent. Now the Southern mills consume 45.2 per cent. while the Northern mills consume 54 8 per cent. At this rate of progress how long will it be until the Southern mills overtake and pass the Northern mills? Our Southern mills have evidently not been suffering for markets notwithstanding the the representations of Mr. Cleveland and the pleadings of the subsidy advocates who are suddenly showing such a remarkable amount of interest in the Southern cotton manufacturer.

The Chicago Chronicle vigorously opposes the proposition to turn hogs at large and give them the freedom of the city, where they might render some assistance as scavengers, on the ground that there are too many hogs in that city now, who take possession of street cars, railway trains, public places, and stick their snouts everywhere, with even less reserve than the four-footed hog would.

CURRENT COMMENT.

— It is not likely that Admiral Schley will run into that Presidential reef after seeing the hole it made in Dewey's popularity.—Atlanta Journal, Dem.

— No doubt the Virginia people will turn out to hear what the Hon. J. Hampton Hoge may have to say, but we trust none of them will be so curious as to demand to see the dent made by the toe of Mr. Cleveland's boot.—Washington Post, Ind.

— Notwithstanding the elimination of some of the war taxes, the revenues are still piling up. The surplus in the treasury now amounts to something like $180,000,000. Under the circumstances the thing to be done, of course, is to cut off more of the war taxes. The revenues are not needed.—Savannah News, Dem.

— The Schley court of inquiry should be above suspicion. If it is not above suspicion, people will have no respect for its findings. It will not be above suspicion if Rear Admiral Howison serves on it. Whether he made the statements attributed to him by the interview of the Boston Record or not, his own letter does nothing towards removing the suspicion of prejudice from him. It rather confirms that suspicion. Admiral Schley's reputation could not be hurt by the adverse findings of a court on which Admiral Howison serves. The damage would be inflicted on the reputations of the men who might condemn him as well as those of the men who have been so active in their attempts to disparage him.—Jacksonville Times-Union, Dem.

Embalming.

"Practically," says an undertaker quoted by the Philadelphia Record, "every corpse nowadays is embalmed. Perhaps not one body in a hundred is buried without having the fluid injected, and that settles it. You won't read your obituary notices then. People are coming to realize this more and more, and the old dread of being buried alive is fast dying out. But these nervous individuals have got to have some sort of post mortem bugaboo to worry them. If it isn't one thing, it's another, and as soon as you convince them that they are not going to be buried alive they get grave robbers on the brain. That's why we are now making a specialty of burglar proof caskets. Fact, I assure you."

Absolute Zero.

Absolute zero is the point at which, as has been determined from experiments with gases, matter would be without a trace of heat, could be cooler no farther. This point is 273 degrees below centigrade zero. A degree of cold so intense as this is, however, unobtainable. Even the meteorites which swarm in interstellar space must be heated to some extent by the radiance of the stars.

OFFICE OF D. H. HARDY, Sec. of State, AUSTIN, TEX., Nov. 21, 1900.

I have found Dr. Moffeet's TEETHINA a splendid remedy and aid for my teething children. When my oldest boy a teething child, every succeeding day warned us that we would inevitably lose him. I happened upon TEETHINA, and began at once administering it to him, and his improvement was marked in 24 hours, and from that day on he recuperated. I have constantly kept it and used it since with my children, and have taken great pleasure in sounding its praises to all mothers of young children. I found it invaluable even after the teething period was passed — High Point Enterprise: It appears that work on the railroad which is to be built from Charleston, S. C., to Winston-Salem will soon begin. This road will run through North Carolina from Wadesboro to Winston and will touch either at Lexington, Thomasville or High Point.

— Stanly Enterprise: Corn in this county will give a fairly good yield, while cotton will prove the opposite. —— J. C. Capp, the man captured at Norwood for holding up the Yadkin train, has confessed to being the Paul Winsell who was convicted at Salisbury of larceny and of having escaped from the penitentiary before serving out his term. He has three and a half years yet to serve.

— Brevard News: Prof. Hayden, a mining expert well known in this county and the man who engineered the first work on the Boilston gold vein, is among our people again. As an illustration of what ignorance is doing for our mineral interests he showed us a specimen of pure umber, equal to the best Turkey umber that our painters are using, which he says a man in this county has been carting and dumping into the river in order to strip a lime vein. He has already dumped $14,000 worth into the water to get at $200 worth of lime. The shipping of umber will be one of the industries of this county in the near future.

— Newton Enterprise: Besides the damage to the cotton and the corn, the farmers are heavy losers in other respects from the wet summer. They have been able to dry but little fruit, and thousands of bushels of apples and peaches have rotted under the trees. They have had but little time suitable for chopping wood and their income in this direction will be cut short. —— The Governor has granted a pardon to Raymond Hunt, from this county, who was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to the penitentiary for three years. He had served four months of the term. The petition was signed by the solicitor and the prosecuting attorney, the chairman of each political party in Catawba and one hundred other citizens.

— Kinston Free Press: Considerable excitement was created on our streets Sunday night, the cause being the shooting of Dave Mitchell, a negro porter on the westbound A. & N. C. evening passenger train, by an unknown white man. The shooting occurred on the large platform of the A. & N. C. passenger depot about 7:30 o'clock. It took place so quietly, quickly and unexpectedly that it is not even known at this time who did the shooting, although the platform on which it occurred was crowded with people, and several were within a few feet of both of the parties. There are several accounts of the shooting, but the following seems to be about the way it occurred: The train arrived at the station shortly after dark. Mitchell, in passing several white men, asked them to get out of the way. A few words were passed and a party standing nearby states that Mitchell raised a lantern he held in an attitude to strike, when the white man shot him. Mitchell's version of the affair is that he asked the men to move and had passed on and raised his lantern to signal the train to go ahead when the man who shot him laid his hand on his (Mitchell's) shoulder and with the other hand pulled a gun and shot. It can not be ascertained whether there had been previous trouble on the train although there are statements to this effect. It was found that the intestines had been punctured in six places and two blood vessels severed. This (Monday) morning the negro had a strong pulse and shows as favorable symptoms as could be expected, but the chances for his recovery are slim.

LEARNING A TRADE.

The Danger of Making a Specialist of a Beginner.

It is generally to the interest of an employer that an apprentice should not learn his trade as a whole, but only a little section of it, says Joseph Horner in Cassier's Magazine. It pays better to keep a lad repeating the performance of one section of his craft than to teach him all. More money is made. But the apprentice becomes a young specialist, a prig in his teens, cocksure over some little piece of handicraft at which he may earn something over his normal wages, and many a lad does not become disillusioned until he has to face the world and try his luck in other shops.

And therefore the best shops in which to place a lad are not the big establishments, but the small ones, where every class of work is done and where tools and appliances are often scant. A lad will learn more in these than in those replete with every appliance and minutely subdivided into sections and groups.

The best training for a lad today is that which he can evolve for himself. The greatest evil that can befall him is to become a specialist and nothing more while in his teens. Yet that is what must happen if he spends several years tending machines or doing repetitive, unvarying tasks in one big establishment.

The best training, therefore, today is that gathered by the peripatetic youth. If a lad cannot gain experience in one place, he should move about, gathering as much as he can accumulate with one firm, then on to another, and attending training schools as opportunity offers. His views become broadened, he becomes self reliant, and in time, having found his true work, he may settle down as a specialist.

DRESS UP FOR SUICIDE.

Said to Be an Invariable Rule With Women Seeking Death.

"If I should ever be called upon to furnish indisputable proof of the inherent pride of woman," said a police sergeant, "I would point at once to her invariable rule of dressing up in her best clothes when she goes out to commit suicide. In my experience on the force I have had occasion to handle a good many suicides and afterward investigate their personal affairs, and in every instance I have found that the poor unfortunates prepared themselves for death by donning their best bib and tucker.

"The majority of the printed reports of suicides say that the clothes of the dead woman were 'good' or 'well made' or 'elegant.' If the woman contemplating suicide owns a silk waist, she wears it. Her broadcloth skirt and silk petticoat naturally go with this garment, and she selects her best shoes.

"I have looked up the history of many of these respectably clad suicides and have found that they owned but one gown with which they could make a decent appearance on the street and that that one good dress was chosen without exception as the appropriate garb in which to make the exit from this world's stage. It makes no difference what manner of death is chosen, the costume is carefully selected.

"Let a woman sleep her life away under the influence of drugs or burn her soul out with acids or sink into the slime of the river, she clothes herself in her most becoming garments and seeks the end with apparent tranquillity. Her instinct of gentility and elegance in clothes is with her to the last, and even in the face of death she shrinks from a public appearance in unbecoming raiment."—New York Sun.

The Prayer Before Gettysburg.

General Daniel Sickles told a story illustrating the tenderness of President Lincoln's heart as well as his faith in Providence and his beautiful optimism.

After Sickles had been wounded at Gettysburg he was removed to Washington, and the president called on him at the hospital. When the general described the battle and the awful slaughter, "Lincoln wept like a child."

"While the two armies were converging," said Lincoln, "I went into my room and prayed as I never prayed before. I told God that if we were to win the battle he must do it, for I had done all that I could. I went from my room with a great load lifted from my shoulders, and from that moment I never had a doubt as to the result. We shall hear good news from Grant, who has been pounding away at Vicksburg for so many months. I am in a prophetic mood today, Sickles, and I say that you will get well."

"The doctors do not say so."

"I don't care, Sickles, you will get well," persisted the president.

And that afternoon, General Sickles goes on to say, a telegram was received from General Grant announcing the fall of Vicksburg. His own recovery soon followed.

A Miller's Monument.

A big millstone monument over a modest miller's grave is a unique sight near Graytown, O. The millstone is located in the center of an old burying ground and can be seen a mile away, coming down the hill.

It marks the last resting place of a happy miller of the old school, who knew not the cares or worries of a rising or falling grain market, but who ground his corn and wheat for his neighbors and lived contentedly on his small profits.

Chiseled on the back of the monument is this poem:

A MILLER'S MONUMENT.
[A millstone taken from his mill.]
Beneath this stone a miller lies,
Who left the world before the rise
Of modern ways of making flour
And hence passed many a happy hour.
He was not forced to speculate
Nor on Chicago's movement wait.
He did not care for foreign trade,
But sold his neighbors all he made.
Cables and telegrams were rare;
The markets did not make him swear.
Small was his mill, his profits round;
Clear was his head, his slumbers sound.
He envied none, he was envied not
And died contented with his lot.

Matrimony In Gilbert Islands.

Women of the Gilbert islands being merely regarded as cattle or any other property, writes Arthur Inkersley in The Overland Monthly, the matrimonial knot is easily tied and just as easily untied. If a man fancies a girl, he seizes her by the hair of the head, wherever she may be, despite her protestations, and drags her away to his home. Her resistance is not often serious, the pretense of refusal being due to the coquettishness inherent in the sex. When the couple reach the house of the groom, a wedding feast is furnished forthwith, to which all the immediate friends of the bride and bridegroom are invited. But an acceptance of the invitation implies the contribution of some viands to the entertainment. Matrimony is attended by no further ceremony than this. When a husband grows weary of his wife, he simply orders her to leave him, and if she does not he turns her out of doors.

Two Celebrated Men's Mottoes.

When Russell Sage was asked for the secret of his success, he said, "The secret of success is to keep your credit good."

When old Commodore Vanderbilt was asked for his secret of success, his answer was, "Keep your mouth shut."—Success.

"Pain in the head and back" is a form of suffering with which so many women are familiar. Often this pain is associated with nervousness, sleeplessness and loss of appetite. The cause of such suffering is generally to be traced to derangement of the womanly function, or a diseased condition of the delicate womanly organs.

In such cases the action of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is marvelous in the prompt relief of pain and permanent cure of disease. It regulates the periodic function, dries disagreeable drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It cures when all other means have been tried in vain.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

In a little over thirty years Dr. Pierce, assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, has cured more than half a million women.

"I was a great sufferer for six years and doctored all the time with a number of different physicians, but did not receive any benefit," writes Mrs. George Sogden, of 641 Bonda Street, Saginaw (South), Mich. "One day as I was reading a paper I saw your advertisement, and, although I had given up all hope of ever getting better, thought I would write to you. When I received your letter, telling me what to do, I commenced to take your 'Favorite Prescription' and follow your advice. I have taken ten bottles in all, also five vials of the 'Pleasant Pellets.' Am now regular after having missed two years and suffered with pain in the head and back. I was so nervous, could not eat or sleep. Now I thank you for my recovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness.

The Drones In a Beehive.

To the drones nature has certainly been very bountiful. They are very large and strong, have a helmet made of enormous black pearls, two lofty quivering plumes, a doublet of iridescent, yellowish velvet, a heroic tuft and a fourfold mantle, translucent and rigid.

While the workers have 12,000 facets to their eyes, the drones are gifted with 26,000; while the workers have 5,000 olfactory cavities in their antennæ, the drones have over 60,000. While the workers are laboring for the benefit of the community the drones sail off every bright morning into space, irresistible, glorious, and tranquilly make for the nearest flowers, where they sleep till the afternoon freshness awakes them.

Then, with the same majestic pomp and still overflowing with magnificent schemes, they return to the hive, go straight to the cells, plunge their heads to the neck in the vats of honey and fill themselves tight as a drum to repair their exhausted strength, whereupon, with heavy steps, they go forth to meet the good, dreamless and careless slumber that shall fold them in its embrace till the time for the next repast.—Maeterlinck's "Life of a Bee."

Life's Combat.

The Farmington (Me.) Chronicle says: "One of the leading religious journals of New England describes with some detail a wedding and, after telling of decorations, gowns, etc., says: 'These were the visible settings of the race old picture, when true hearts join for life's combat.'

"Doubtless the many young friends of this young pair are glad to know they have determined to 'fight it out on this line' if it takes a lifetime. Meanwhile we are reminded of the epitaph on the tombstone erected over an aged couple who had lived long years together, 'Their warfare is accomplished.'"

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The market for cotton futures opened easy with prices down six to nine points under nervous selling for both accounts, started by weak cables from Liverpool and by European selling orders. Following the call there was an additional decline with the trading level at lowest figures of the first hour, some ten points under last night's close. Sentiment was bearishly disposed owing to reports that spot cotton was being offered freely in the South and that receipts were due to rapidly increase from this on. The market was hampered by scarcity of supporting orders from the outside and by selling orders from New Orleans interests. Trading all the forenoon was spasmodic. Toward noon covering caused a rally to the opening figures, but bull speculation was not a feature. Port receipts were smaller than expected and the weather forecast indicated showers to-night and to-morrow pretty much over the entire belt. The Washington statement was bullishly construed. While no new business was stimulated by the report, shorts were not content to risk the chance of Liverpool refusing to respond to the government report and covered in the early afternoon and last hour. This buying was too scattering and irregular to have a decided effect upon prices, though it kept the market tolerably steady in tone at a trifle over the opening bids, much of the time. The market was finally steady with prices net six to seven points lower.

They Are About the Same In Every Play—Empty Glasses From Which Toasts Are Drunk—Vaudeville Celery and Rural Drama Turkey.

"You folks who go to the theater frequently, did you ever consider stage meals?" asked the old timer, who is well versed in matters histrionic. "They are far from being the least interesting feature of a performance, and quite often they attract more attention than the star himself. Except in a few instances the stage meal has trailed a long way back of other theatrical features. Scenery has been improved and made more realistic; costumes have been regulated so that they fit the period of the play in which they are worn; acting itself has kept pace with the onward march of general progress, but the stage meal has stuck. For years it has maintained a monotonous level for imperfection, and finally I have given up hope that it will ever reform.

"The stage meal is the same, whether the hour be that of breakfast, luncheon, dinner or supper. If your seat is in the orchestra and the stage is far above you, the meal doesn't count for much, because you cannot see the awful waste that the table contains; but, should your seat be farther back, or in the balcony, the weird conglomeration of stage food then becomes altogether too apparent to the eye. The stage meal is the same, whether it is being served in a tenement or whether it is spread in the overdressed parlor scene of the refined vaudeville sketch. The ingredients seldom differ; only the dishes are changed, while flowers cover a large plot of space.

"Doubtless you have often observed the vaudeville meal. I mean the kind of spread which is set out when the soubrette, in short skirts, trips in and trills, 'I am expecting a young man here to dine with me today, and I have a nice little lunch all ready for him.' Yes, indeed, we all have seen that lunch. It fairly makes our mouths water. There is a tall dish for celery, with celery in it. Celery is always good for comic business, such as fanning the girl when she faints or dusting one's shoes. Well, as I was saying, there is celery, and a lot of it, in the tall dish. There are several rosy apples, an orange or two, a squad of rolls and perhaps a coffeepot. If the play is very realistic, there may be coffee in the pot, but if not—nay, nay. Bring in a stage hand, in a dress suit and tan shoes, first giving him what looks like a champagne bottle with water inside, and the delightful illusion is complete. I saw a meal like that the other afternoon on the stage, and after the male member of the sketch team had taken about three bites and spluttered out the coffee because it burned him—very funny—he rose up and said with a smile:

"'There! I feel as if I couldn't eat another morsel for a week.' Well, I suppose many a time he hasn't had the chance, being a veteran actor.

"The vaudeville meal is not the only sparsely settled stage poke out. I have seen John Drew, after telling the audience how hungry he was, in one way or another, for ten minutes, sit down amid beautiful scenery to an empty chafing dish and a bottle of real wine. I have always envied the actor who could have real wine and consider it a mark of real prosperity in the show that provides it. Still, wine without food is at times injurious, particularly when you see a couple of characters in a society drama pour it into them for breakfast. Now, while I am speaking of wine, I'm going to talk about the stage toast. In legitimate drama it will pass, but comic opera—ah, that's the word!

"Ever seen a comic opera toast? Of course you have.' Everybody has. Somebody on the stage cries, 'A toast, a toast!' and then the baritone steps forward and levels his voice over the footlights. He has an ablebodied cup in his hand, in which a chorus girl pours wine from an empty flagon, and then, prepared for the song, the baritone lets go. 'And it's will ye quaff with me, my lads?' or something like that is what he says, and then he drinks. If there's an encore, which there usually is, he comes back and drinks again without the formality of refilling his glass. That's one kind of opera toast. Another kind is when everybody drinks together. The chorus and a couple of the principals get out in front of the house and sing something like 'Oh, the raven black wine; let us sip-ip. Come, let us sip-ip. Come, let us sip-ip.' I won't be sure about the color of the wine as characterized in the song, but I do remember that toast. Everybody on the stage used to clink glasses (they were made of metal, of course) with enough force to break a pressed glass pitcher, and when they weren't clinking cups they were swinging them around their heads like a green quarter back making his first double pass. Of course it won't be necessary for me to state that the glasses were all empty.

"Having discovered about meals that are spurious, let us now pay our respects in conclusion to the real articles. Where can you find them? Why, in the truly rural drama, with whistling wind, the driving snow, the real fruit tree, the ox team and the 'Annie Laurie' quartet. You all know the sort of show I refer to. The kind old man with whiskers and overalls comes in from the barn and says: 'Marthy, be that turkey done yit? It smells all fired slick. Hello, who's thet there comin up the road?' And, saying that, the dinner preparations go on, and finally they take a real turkey from a real stove and set it on a real table, with real cloth and knives and forks and real bread and real conversation—everything real, in fact, except the actors. Sometimes they are wooden. In these plays the members of the cast get so sick of turkey that for ordinary meals off the stage they are glad to tackle a tripe sandwich. After all, then, it becomes a question whether the actor with three rolls and an apple isn't the better situated."—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Little Drama.

In the morning a workman kissed his wife and children and went to help a hundred others tear down a building.

During the day he slipped and fell.

Then came an ambulance and a hospital and then a bit of black crape on an obscure door.

His children went on without their father.

His wife, whose life had been bound up in that of her husband, grew pale and died.

Helplessness killed the little ones.

Yet in speaking of the accident men said:

"It was not so bad. Only one man was killed."—Chicago Journal.

Frogs as Scavengers.

Frogs are fine scavengers, destroying great quantities of decaying animal substance in springs and brooks and keeping the water pure, thus proving themselves most worthy of kind treatment and preservation. They devour, too, great numbers of insects, including flies and mosquitoes. In spite of their queer shape, they are remarkably expert jumpers and swimmers, and many a boy has learned from them both how to play leapfrog and how to swim.

Displaying His Caution.

"I notice he was unusually formal and circumspect in his behavior," she told her dearest friend, "and I thought at first I had offended him in some way."

"Had you?"

"Oh, no. As soon as Brother Willie came in and got the phonograph he had inadvertently left on the table everything was all right again."—Chicago Post.

His Repairs.

Landlord—But the agreement was that you should make your own repairs.

Tenant—That's all right, but I expect you to make the repairs of the house.—Boston Transcript.

An Englishman at a Counter.

An Englishman at a Chicago hotel ordered a trap. He ordered it of an intelligent looking key clerk, behind the desk. Then he went up stairs to his room to prepare himself for the drive. He waited half an hour for the announcement that the vehicle was below. He began to wonder if this was an example of the American hustle whose reputation had crossed the Atlantic.

Presently came a knock on the door. "Come in," bade the Englishman.

Entered a mechanical looking man in his shirt sleeves.

"Where's the hole?" was his question.

"Hole?" queried the Englishman. "I wanted a trap."

"Here it is," said the toiler, "and it'll catch that mouse sure."

The Englishman's mouth opened in astonishment. "Mouse! What do you mean? Who are you, anyhow?"

"I'm the hotel carpenter, sir, and I've brought up the trap you ordered!"

The Englishman glared. Then it penetrated his Saxon wits, and he roared.

He gave the carpenter half a dollar and swore the joke for once was on America.

A Beaver's Toilet.

It is an interesting sight to watch the outlaw at his evening toilet. To begin with, instead of sitting up with his large, flat, ribbed tail protruding behind him, he tucked it forward between his hind legs and sat upon it. Then with his hand he carefully combed his long hair, using both hands at the same time. There were many places, however, that could not be reached in this way, for his arms are very short and his body very large, so he combed these otherwise inaccessible places with his hind feet, using first one and then the other. The entire operation was performed with the utmost deliberation and care and occupied more than a quarter of an hour, so that by the time it was completed daylight had almost vanished.

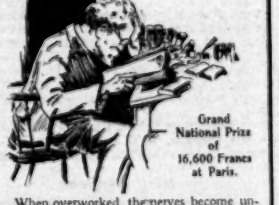

My presence did not appear to disturb him in the least, though I sat on the ground within three feet of him that I might the better note his various attitudes, for it is not often one has an opportunity of watching a beaver at such close range.—Everybody's Magazine.

Cold Steel or Death.

"There is but one small chance to save your life and that is through an operation," was the awful prospect set before Mrs. I. B. Hunt, of Lime Ridge, Wis., by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. He didn't count on the marvellous powers of Electric Bitters to cure Stomach and Liver troubles, but she heard of it, took seven bottles, was wholly cured, avoided surgeon's knife, now weighs more and feels better than ever. It's positively guaranteed to cure Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles and never disappoints. Price 50c at R. R. BELLAMY'S drug store.

THE LATEST AS TO NERVES AND STRENGTH

It is not muscle so much as the nerves back of muscle which show one's strength and power of endurance. And the study with able physicians of to-day is how to keep the nerves in perfect health and fitted for the strain of every-day living. Headache of every type, nerve weakness, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, languor, restlessness, nervous dyspepsia, muscular weakness, brain weariness, poor circulation,—a thousand different unpleasant feelings and symptoms are due to nerve waste and nerve weakness,—especially in women and children. But how can all this be prevented, one will ask? How can my broken-down constitution be repaired, and nerve strength and full, robust health be secured. Just two points to remember: Determine that you will grow strong in nerves and health, and decide to use at once that most famous nerve cure, COCKLIN. It is delicious in taste, quick in action and makes the wearied nerves tingle with renewed strength and every function the stronger and faculty the brighter by its use. Druggists sell it.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 11.

COTTON, RICE AND TOBACCO.

Weather Conditions Generally Favorable for Crops in All Sections—Cotton Opening Rapidly.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The following is the Weather Bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions:

The weather conditions of the week ending September 9, 1901, have been generally favorable for gathering and maturing late crops in nearly all sections east of the Rocky mountains and on the Pacific slope. Conditions have been particularly favorable in the South Atlantic and Gulf districts, which have, in four previous weeks, experienced unusual and heavy precipitation. Reports from the principal corn-producing States west of the Mississippi river indicate that late corn is maturing rapidly and that cutting is in rapid progress in all sections, being nearly completed in some localities. Generally favorable reports are received from States east of the Mississippi river, with the exception of Illinois.

The weather of the past week has been more favorable for cotton. The staple is opening rapidly in all sections and picking is in general progress. Complaints of rust and shedding still continue, however, from the eastern and central districts of the cotton belt, and the top crop is short in Georgia and Florida, while reports of damage by boll worm are received from Mississippi and Louisiana. No improvement is noted in the crop in Texas, it having stopped growing and blooming in the drought stricken districts, and is shedding and rusting badly where rain fell.

Favorable reports regarding tobacco continue from nearly all districts. Cutting and housing are in general progress, and a satisfactory crop is indicated, although tobacco is light in North Carolina and Wisconsin and curing very badly in Maryland.

An improvement in the condition of rice during the month of August is reported in but two of the rice growing States—Florida and Texas. In Louisiana and North Carolina there has been no appreciable change in condition, and South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama report declines. In Louisiana, the chief seat of the rice growing industry, the condition is four points above the mean of the average of the last seven years.

MONEY TO MOVE THE CROPS.

Government Offers to Buy Bonds to the Amount of Twenty Million Dollars. Deposits With National Banks.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The following announcement was made to-day at the Treasury Department:

The Secretary of the Treasury hereby gives notice that he will receive and consider proposals for the sale to the government on account of the sinking fund of the United States, of three per cent. bonds, loan of 1908-1918; four per cent. bonds, funded loan of 1907; four per cent. bonds, loan of 1925, and five per cent. bonds, loan of 1904, to an amount not exceeding $30,000,000. Proposals should be submitted to the secretary by letter or telegraph not later than Thursday, the 12th inst. Any bonds accepted to be promptly delivered at the United States sub-treasury in New York or to the Treasury Department at Washington. The right to reject any or all proposals is expressly reserved.

The secretary also has directed that internal revenue receipts be deposited with national bank depositories up to the par value of all bonds deposited, including the two per cent. bonds.

Commenting upon the offer made in his circular, Secretary Gage said that the active movement of crops had begun throughout the country and he did not desire that the treasury should absorb millions of dollars that might be in trade channels. The sub-treasuries in the West and South have been calling heavily for currency to move the crops, and the amount sent so far is in excess of any year in the history of the treasury.

The placing of additional money with the national bank depositories will divert about $5,000,000 from treasury vaults and put it into circulation. At the same time the purchase of $30,000,000 in bonds would be a decided relief. The only question now is whether the offers to the secretary will be such as to induce him to purchase the amount he desires or any sum at all. The tendency in offers of this kind is to cause the prices of bonds to rise. Secretary Gage does not intend to pay above what the bonds are worth, and will make no purchases if the offers indicate that the market prices are to be raised.

THE PRESIDENT OUT OF DANGER.

His Physicians Say the Critical Point is Passed and the Patient is Safe.

AN EXODUS FROM BUFFALO.

Many of the President's Friends Leave for Their Homes—The President Will be Taken to Washington So Soon as it is Safe to Move Him.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 10.—The corps of eminent surgeons and physicians in attendance upon the wounded President to-day committed themselves without reservation to the opinion that their patient was out of danger and that there were no complications threatening his life. They did not give assurance of his recovery collectively over their signatures in an official bulletin, but they went a long way toward it individually and separately during the day. Each of them, with the exception of Dr. Rixey, who did not leave the Milburn residence, placed himself squarely on record, not privately to the friends of the President, but publicly through the agency of the press, that the danger point had passed and that the President would survive the attempt upon his life.

"Of course we will all feel easier when a week has passed," said Dr. McBurney, the dean of the corps. "We would like to see every door locked and double locked, but the danger from possible complications is now very remote."

Little Piece of Lead.

As an evidence of the supreme faith he holds, Dr. McBurney, after the morning consultation, made a trip to Niagara Falls and this evening returned to New York. He could reach here again in ten hours if the unexpected should happen and there should be a change for the worse. The little piece of lead in the muscles of the back is giving the physicians no concern whatever. Unless it should prove troublesome to the President later on he will probably carry this souvenir of the anarchist with him to the end of his days. The doctors say that once encysted it can do no harm. The X-ray machine is ready for instant use, however, and if there is the slightest inflammation or pain in the vicinity of the bullet the operation will be performed.

The Vice President, members of the Cabinet, Senator Hanna and other distinguished friends of the President who have remained here, consider their presence no longer necessary.

Exodus from Buffalo.

Vice President Roosevelt left this evening for his home at Oyster Bay; Senator Hanna returned to Cleveland on business, to be gone two days, and Controller Dawes went back to Washington to night. Abner McKinley, the President's brother, will remain a few days longer, but his family have returned home and Mrs. Duncan and several other relatives of the President have gone. Judge Day, long and closely associated with the President, returned to Canton this afternoon. The five members of the cabinet still here will remain a few days, rather as friends who have been intimately associated with the President for several years than as public officials.

The President's physicians are impressed with his remarkable recuperative powers and the rapidity of his improvement. Ordinarily an incision for such an operation as was performed upon the chief executive should heal within three weeks, but in the President's case he may be strong enough to be moved a little sooner. The President will be taken direct to Washington as soon as it is safe to move him.

Evidences of Improvement.

Within the sick room many evidences of improvement were apparent. The President himself began to show confidence in his ability to care for himself, and from time to time he would carefully turn himself and gain a more restful position. Yesterday he took the precaution to ask if he might be permitted to move, but to-day he changed his position of his own volition, without difficulty. The nurses naturally observed with care these evidences of growing strength and courage, and were ready to see that there was no undue tax on the President's strength or the straining of the wound. These slight movements from side to side are all that he has attempted thus far, and it is too early yet to think of his sitting up in bed or any other marked use of his muscles.

Important Development.

A most important development of the day was the private determination reached among those in charge of the case that food should be admitted to the patient to-morrow by mouth. Not since the shooting has a morsel of food been given to the President by natural means, but the drain on his system has been met with dissolved foods by injection. This has been a period of four days of fasting from ordinary means of nourishment, and to-morrow will be the fifth day.

The importance of this feeding by the mouth is that it will restore the normal action of the stomach for the first time since that organ had both its walls pierced by a bullet. The doctors are satisfied that the time has come to renew these normal functions and the four days which have elapsed since the wounds in the stomach were closed, give every assurance that the sutures are sufficiently healed to allow nature to resume her way.

Tokens of Sympathy.

Although the house was fairly embowered with flowers to-day, sent as toxens of sympathy and gratitude, none of the sweet-scented blossoms were taken to the President's chamber. The most rigid system of simplicity prevails there, and sentiment is not allowed to qualify the stern requirements of the case. The only persons admitted to the sick room to-day other than the doctors and attendants were Mrs. McKinley and Secretary Cortelyou.

Although the President has been pronounced out of danger no member of the cabinet has yet been within the sick room, nor has the Vice President or those closest to the confidence of the President, such as Senator Hanna and Judge Day, seen the President. But these restrictions established by the doctors are merely for the sake of encouraging every particle of energy in the patient, and relatives and friends alike accept the rigorous policy as decidedly for the best. Secretary Cortelyou sees the President much as the doctors and nurses do. There is never a breath of business, public or private, and at no time has there been the slightest reference to anything connected with the President's duties.

Thanksgiving Celebration.

The dramatic phase of the situation here is rapidly disappearing. Plans overthrown by the assassin's bullet are being restored and matters are rapidly assuming normal conditions.

Indiana Day at the exposition set for Friday of this week was indefinitely postponed when the President was shot, but the original programme was restored to-day at the suggestion of Senator Fairbanks, who says this course would not have been thought of were there any doubt of the President's recovery. The exposition has suffered severely in attendance since the tragedy and the managers are now organizing for a great thanksgiving celebration which they expect not only to prove a great case for the fair but which they hope will be made a day of national rejoicing.

The Last Bulletin.

MILBURN HOUSE, BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 10 —The following bulletin was issued by the President's physicians at 10:30 P. M.:

The condition of the President is unchanged in all important particulars. His temperature is 100.6; pulse, 114; respiration, 28.

When the operation was done on Friday last it was noted that the bullet had carried with it a short distance beneath the skin a fragment of the President's coat. This foreign material was, of course, removed, but a slight irritation of the tissues was produced, the evidence of which has appeared only to-night. It has been necessary on account of this slight disturbance to remove a few stitches and partially open the skin wound. This incident cannot give rise to other complications, but it is communicated to the public, as the surgeons in attendance wish to make their bulletins entirely frank. In consequence of this separation of the edges of the surface wound the healing of the same will be somewhat delayed. The President is now well enough to begin to take nourishment by the mouth in the form of pure beef juice.

PLOT PLANNED TO KILL THE PRESIDENT.

Police Officials On the Trail of the Conspirators—Civil Service Bureau in Washington Co-operating.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 10.—A number of witnesses supposed to have knowledge of the movements of Czolgosz after he came to Buffalo were brought to police headquarters this morning by local detectives to be questioned by Superintendent Bull and District Attorney Penney. The police declined to give the names of the witnesses or to tell what information had been gained from them. District Attorney Penney would only say that he knew several witnesses had been brought in and that he had been asked to come down and examine them.

The police continue to work on their first theory, that there was an extended and carefully planned plot to kill the President, and the inquiry is being pressed energetically along that line in every city where there are circles of anarchists.

The New York and Paterson departments are watching the anarchists of those two cities, while at Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit there are men on the trail of the prisoner. The Secret Service Bureau at Washington is cooperating with every one of its operatives who can be used. That the plot has been revealed or the identity of the principals established the police themselves admit.

Czolgosz has been examined by Drs. F. S. Crego and Joseph Hewler, specialists on mental disorders, who were called in by District Attorney Penney. They talked with and took a series of careful measurements of his head. It is understood that they are convinced that he is perfectly sane. There has never been any doubt on the part of the police on the subject, but they wish to be fortified when the case comes to trial.

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY.

Adopted at Meetings of Camps of Confederate Veterans in Georgia and Virginia.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

EATONTON, GA., Sept. 10.—R. T. Davis Camp of United Confederate Veterans, at a special meeting last night, adopted resolutions on the attempt on the President's life in part as follows:

"Our profoundest sympathies go out to President McKinley, the man who as the chief executive of this nation has administered his trust with fidelity and in the spirit of genuine patriotism; the man who as a citizen has placed before our people a personal character which commands our respect, and who in his relations to the veterans of the Confederate armies has evidenced a spirit of chivalric gallantry we can but admire. Our prayers, with those of all good citizens, will go up in an appeal to God for the restoration of the President, who even in this distressing misfortune, draws together in closer bonds of union the good, the true and the brave of all sections of our country."

The resolutions were adopted by a unanimous rising vote, with bared heads.

ROANOKE, VA., Sept. 10.—William Watts Camp Confederate Veterans last night adopted resolutions of sympathy for the President. They denounce the act of Czolgosz and await with profound sorrow the outcome of his atrocious attempt. Continuing they say: "We recognize in McKinley not only the chief magistrate of the government, but one who was brave in war, gentle in peace and considerate of the Confederate soldier and appreciative of his sincerity of convictions. We deem it meet to evidence our appreciation of his high attributes and our sorrow at his misfortune."

EMMA GOLDMAN IS IN CUSTODY.

Arrested in Chicago Charged With Conspiracy to Assassinate the President.

ANARCHY'S HIGH PRIESTESS.

Disclaimed All But the Slightest Acquaintance With Czolgosz—Denied That She Was Implicated in Any Plot to Kill the President.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Emma Goldman, the anarchist queen, under whose red banner Leon Czolgosz claims he stands, whose words he claims fired his heart and his brain to attempt the assassination of the President, was arrested here shortly before noon to day.

She disclaimed all but the slightest acquaintance with the President's assailant; she denied absolutely that she, or anarchists she knew, were implicated in any plot to kill the President. She said she believed Czolgosz acted entirely on his own responsibility, and that he never claimed to have been inspired by her, as he is quoted as affirming.

The President, she averred, with a yawn, was an insignificant being to her—a mere human atom, whose life or death were matters of supreme indifference to her or to any anarchist. Czolgosz's act was foolish, yet she declared it probably had its inspiration in the misery which the Pole had seen about him. Violence, she said, was not a tenet in the faith of the anarchist, and she had not advocated it in Cleveland, where Czolgosz has said he heard her, nor elsewhere.

Amused at Her Arrest.

Miss Goldman arrived here Saturday morning from St. Louis. Her immunity from arrest while in the Missouri metropolis and up to to-day in Chicago afforded her much amusement. She told, in sentences punctuated with laughter of her capture to day. In her conversation with reporters—and she talked with them at length twice during the day—the excitement she was laboring under was suppressed, and only once did she break down completely. That was when Captain Scheuttler led her from the office of Chief of Police O'Neill to the cab which was waiting to convey her to the women's annex at the Harrison street police station. For a moment she became a woman pure and simple and cried. In a moment, however, this exhibition of distress was over, and when she put her foot on the step to mount into the carriage she was again Emma Goldman, the "high priestess of anarchy," as she has been styled by her followers. She said her purpose in coming here has been to assist the anarchists who were arrested here several days ago. She had intended to give herself up to the police, but delayed it for one reason and another, until the police she had derided so much had taken the matter in their own hands.

Never Advocated Violence.

Miss Goldman's manner was defiant as she was led into the office of Chief of Police O'Neill, but she disclaimed all knowledge of Czolgosz and his crime, admitting only that she met him here July 12th.

"Do you know that your words are what Czolgosz claims stirred him to shoot the President?" she was asked.

"I do not; I never advocated violence. I scarcely knew the man. I was leaving Rochester via Buffalo when Czolgosz had a few words with me. He said he had heard me lecture at some memorial hall in Cleveland last May, and that he wanted to know me. He said he knew I was in Chicago and looked me up. I scarcely remember anything about him save that his complexion was light."

"Then how do you know that this man is the one who tried to kill the President?"

"Oh," with a shrug of the shoulders, "I guessed that from what the newspapers say."

"What did you think when you heard that an attempt to kill the President had been made?" the woman was asked. With a wave of her hands and another shrug of the shoulders she answered disdainly: "I thought, Oh, the fool!"

Her Meeting Czolgosz.

The prisoner's manner had been growing more excited, although she made an evident effort to control herself. In this she finally succeeded and launched into a discourse on the teachings of anarchy. She declared that anarchy did not teach men to do the act which has made Czolgosz despised and hated the world over.

"We work against the system, and education is our watchword," she said. "It was early last July when I came to Chicago to visit the Isaaks family," she continued, in answer to interrogations concerning her whereabouts recently. "On the night of July 12th Isaaks was out of the house. The bell rang and I went to the door. The man, who I learn through the newspapers was Czolgosz, stood there. He wanted to see me. I was about to catch the Nickel Plate train as I and Mr. Isaak's daughter were about to go to Rochester. He went alone to the Rock Island depot where he met us, but I was so busy taking leave of my friends that I scarcely noticed him. It was not a time when one would want to make new friends. At the depot I had the few words with him of which I have told. That was all there ever was between us."

Not Inspired By Her.

"I am an anarchist—a student of socialism; but, nothing in anything I ever said to Leon Czolgosz, knowingly, would have led him to do the act which startled everybody Friday."

"Not even in your lectures? He says your words set his brain on fire," asked the interviewer.

"Am I accountable because some cracked-brained person put a wrong construction on my words? Leon Czolgosz, I am convinced, planned the deed unaided and entirely alone. There is no anarchist ring which would help him. There may be anarchists who would murder, but there are also men in every walk of life who sometimes feel the impulse to kill. I do not know surely, but I think Czolgosz was one of those down trodden men who see all the misery which the rich inflict upon the poor; who think of it, who brood over it and then, in despair, resolve to strike a great blow, as they think for the good of their fellow men. But that is not anarchy. Czolgosz (the woman pronounced the name with the greatest ease)—Czolgosz may have been inspired by me; but, if he was, he took the wrong way of showing it."

The anarchistic lecturer wore a white shirt waist of fine material, a dark blue cheviot skirt, patent leather boots and a straw hat encircled by a dotted veil. She took a chair in the middle of the room and faced the little group of inquisitors with an air of confidence. Beside her sat Capt. Schuettler, broad shouldered and quiet. In front of her were the chief of police and Mayor Harrison. Capt. Colleran stood back in a corner with Fire Chief Musham.

Warrant Served.

When the interview was over Capt. Colleran, chief of detectives, served a warrant on Miss Goldman charging her with conspiracy to murder the President. The warrant was sworn to by Capt. Colleran. It gives as her coconspirators Abraham Isaaks, Maurice Isaaks, Clemence Pfeutzer, Hypolyte Havel, Henry Travaglio, Alfred Scheider, Julia Mechame, Marie Isaaks and Marie Isaaks, Jr. All but Miss Goldman were arrested some days ago. The women were allowed to go, but the men were held without bail and are now in jail.

It is the opinion of several lawyers that Miss Goldman cannot be extradited for trial in New York unless she and Czolgosz are charged with an offence under the Federal statutes. The suggestion that the would-be assassin must be tried under the State laws of New York for assault with intent to kill would, it is said, preclude the possibility of Miss Goldman's being extradited as an accessory before the fact, as her alleged incendiary statements were not made in New York and she is not a fugitive from justice from that State.

The Penalty.

It is said, however, that she and Czolgosz might be charged with an offence under section 5508 of the Federal statutes, which fixes a ten year term of imprisonment and a $50,000 fine for two or more persons who conspire to injure any citizen in the exercise of any right secured to him by the constitution and laws of the United States. The enforcement of this law against Miss Goldman and Czolgosz would, it is said, permit the former's extradition from any State.

Miss Goldman will be taken before a magistrate to-morrow. It is expected that the city will ask for a continuance of the case pending advices from Buffalo.

"I shall insist upon an immediate hearing," she said, in speaking of the probability of a postponement being asked by the city prosecutor.

"They want me to go to New York without requisition papers, but I will not go. I know the legal ropes and I'll make them fight every step. And I'm not afraid to go at that."

C. J. Norris, at whose home Miss Goldman was captured, was arrested later.

Miss Goldman was taken from the chief's office to the woman's annex of the Harrison street station where she will spend the night. Her arrest was accomplished on a request sent to the various police chiefs of the country from Buffalo. Chief O'Neill telegraphed Chief Bull of the capture.

Prisoner Interviewed.

Later in the day Miss Goldman was interviewed in the woman's annex at the police station by an Associated Press reporter and a stenographic report taken. Miss Goldman said:

"I feel sure that the police are helping us more than I could do in ten years. They are making more anarchists than the most prominent people connected with the anarchist cause could make in ten years. If they will only continue, I shall be very grateful; they will save us lots of work."

"What do you think of your own arrest?" she was asked.

"If I told you," she replied, "it would look somewhat conceited, and I certainly would not like to be guilty of that. Not only my arrest but the others smack of the Haymarket. The police are very much in disrepute all over the country and they wish to do something to clear themselves. They are trying to make it an anarchist plot; if they wish to make up a case they may succeed."

"What man in the United States, in your opinion, is of sufficient prominence to warrant such a plot?" she was asked.

Monopolists Responsible.

"I am not in a position to say," replied Miss Goldman, "who ought to be killed. The monopolists and the wealthy of this country are responsible for the existence of Czolgosz. If imperialism would not grow in this country; if the liberties of the people were not trampled under foot, there would have been no violence."

Referring to the would-be assassin, Miss Goldman said:

"I feel that the man is one of those unfortunates who has been driven to despair and misery to commit the deed. I feel very deeply for him as an individual, as I would feel with anybody who suffers. If I had means I would help him as much as I could; I would see that he had counsel and that justice was done him."

Although the whole world awaited Friday afternoon for the bulletins from the President's bedside Miss Goldman did not care enough about the report that he had been shot, which she heard newsboys shouting, to buy a paper. It was Saturday noon before her interest was sufficiently aroused to buy a paper containing the story. She was more interested in the arrest of the Chicago anarchists than in the President's condition.

Asked if she thought Czolgosz's act was praiseworthy from her point of view, she answered:

"I am not in a position to say whether it was good or bad. It is bad for the man who attempted to do it. I am not in his boots and know nothing about it. What I don't see is why they should make more fuss over the President than anybody else. All men are born equal."

TO BUILD MEMORIAL CHAPEL.

Mr. H. E. Bonitz at Head of Movement for the A. & M. College at Raleigh.

The Goldsboro correspondent of the News and Observer, of yesterday, says:

"Mr. H. E. Bonitz, a former trustee of the A. and M. College, and its first graduate, has a movement on foot looking to the erection of a memorial chapel in honor of the late Mrs. Sue C. Carroll, for years matron of the institution, a woman held in great esteem by the student body for many virtues and many kindnesses to them. The plan proposed is that every student past and present shall contribute to the fund in such amounts as he is able. In the west, Mr. Fred. William Bonitz, of Wilkesboro, a brother, also of the student body, is presenting the plan. It is desired that State papers render such aid as may be deemed best to the end that the building may be erected."

TO SUPPRESS ANARCHISM.

Resolution Reported in the Lower House of the Texas Legislature.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Sept. 10.—The lower house of the Texas Legislature to-day adopted a resolution extending to the President and Mrs. McKinley the deepest sympathy of the people of Texas in their affliction. The resolution was telegraphed to Private Secretary Cortelyou at Buffalo.

A special commission has reported a resolution to the House recommending that all States in the Union enact and enforce the most stringent laws with a view to the complete suppression of anarchism in this country. The national Congress is petitioned to enact such additional immigration laws as will prevent the landing in this country of the criminal elements of other nations.

At a mass meeting of citizens at Bristol, Tenn., last night, resolutions were adopted to the effect that neither anarchy nor those who sympathize with its vile doctrines shall live under our flag, and calling on Congress to enact legislation to make the teachings and acts of such people punishable by death.
